THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1911.

There are plenty of fellows who really know just about as much about running a newspaper as a pig does about steering an airship, and yet they seem to think themselves fully qualified to give "pointers" to a State press convention. Every well informed person knows that it requires some practical knowledge of anything before one is qualified to give advice on that particular subject. We wonder what a good lawyer would think if a half-dozen or more fellows having no practical knowledge of the law whatever would take the liberty to call around at his office every day and tell him how he ought to manage his law practice? What would the medical doctor think if everybody in the community felt at perfect liberty just any old time to insinuate to him that he is a dull scholar and a back number anyway, and if he would practice medicine thus and so he might amount to something after awhile? What would the banker or the merchant think if people who do not know even the first principles of banking or the mercantile business were always butting in to give them advice on how to conduct a successful and up-to-date bank or store? They would all feel just like the newspaper man feels under similar circumstances. Just keep this one fact in mind: It requires just about as much brains, careful training and long experience to be a successful newspaper man as it does to be successful in any other profession or calling in the world, and if a fellow doesn't want to find his name down on the newspaper man's list of "Smart Alecks," he had better not get too gay in the matter of giving advice or making suggestions as to how a newspaper should be conducted.

There are only too many able-bodied young men in this age who are going about the country looking for "soft snaps." They regard honest labor with scorn and think it unworthy of a "gentleman." What they want is an easy way to gain an support and live in high style by the sweat of the other fellow's brow. One of the first things they want to know when applying for a position is the very least amount of work they can possibly turn off and at the same time manage to hold the job. All lines of business and work are more or less encumbered with such fellows, and earnest, honest young men who are looking for places in which they may find an opportunity to prove their real worth are frequently crowded out by them. There is not much good of any sort in the fellow who scorns or looks down upon honest work or who is seeking an easy place.

Colonel Wade H. Harris, of the Charlotte Chronicle, has turned weather prophet, and in addition to a gentle reminder that "the cool spell in May is yet to come," he hands out the following, which is very encouraging indeed: "Barring that, the worst of the bad weather may be said to be behind us."

Ordered to the Front.

North Carolina's second corps of North Carolina National Guard officials is to report at Camp San Antonio, Texas, April 25th, to undertake their special camp and field training with the regulars doing service on the Mexican border. The call for the appointment of a second squad came to Adjutant General Leinster Saturday and he announced the following men: Maj. S. S. Pace, Second Infantry, Wilmington; Capt. W. A. Jackson, First Infantry, Mount Airy; Capt. F. L. Black, regimental commissary, Second Infantry, Charlotte; Capt. Don E. Scott, regimental adjutant, Third Infantry, Graham. It is expected that there will be two or three other calls for North Carolina officers to make the Texas trip for training before the Mexican border maneuvers are closed.

Kitchen After Simmons.

Representative Kitchen, of this State, in a speech delivered in the House of Representatives Saturday, said that "a member of the North Carolina delegation" was sending an anti-reciprocity speech to the State to try to convert the people to his way of thinking. He said that the speech was calculated to create a false impression. Mr. Gudger, of the tenth district, took exception to these remarks, rose and demanded the speaker to name the man, and quit casting slurs on the entire delegation. The man from Asheville had his dander up. Mr. Kitchen then said it was against the rules of the House for him to say who it was but he supposed it was the man that made the speech. This meant Senator Simmons had reversed himself inside of ten years.

Crawford-Harris Marriage.

A very quiet but pretty marriage was solemnized at the Methodist Protestant church Wednesday at noon, when Miss Anna Crawford, of this city, became the bride of Dr. W. H. Harris, of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. M. Andrews.

Just preceding the marriage Miss Mabel Harris played several beautiful selections, after which she rendered Lohengrin's wedding march, to the strains of which the bride and groom entered the church. The bride was in white satin, white picture hat and carrying Easter lilies, and little Miss Dorothy Harris, sister of the bride, in white silk and carrying pink roses. The bride entered leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. A. J. Harris, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. A. J. Harris. The beautiful ring service was used. The happy couple left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The beautiful and accomplished bride presented a lovely picture in her charming gown of satin and lace, and veil held by orange blossoms. She is an extremely popular young lady and expressions of regret are heard on all hands because of the fact that she is to leave Henderson and make her home elsewhere.

Dr. Crawford is a graduate of Harvard and a well known contributor to scientific magazines. He is a prominent physician at Boston, where he and his bride will make their future home.

At one o'clock a wedding breakfast was served to the party at the elegant and hospitable home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris, of which about forty guests, immediate relatives and friends of the happy couple, partook. The valuable wedding presents were numerous.

The bride and groom left on an afternoon train for their future home in Boston, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends.

If I Had Eczema

I'd wash it away with that mild, soothing liquid, D. D. D. Trial bottle 25c. Relieves all kinds of skin trouble, cleansing away the impurities and clearing up the complexion as nothing else can.

Yes, if I had any kind of skin trouble I'D USE D. D. D. W. W. Parker.

Several Easter Egg Hunts.

Egg hunts were the order of the day among the little folks throughout the Easter Monday. The first one took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith at 8:30 that morning. Eighteen children participated in it and had a most enjoyable time.

At 10 o'clock little Miss Catherine Morris entertained nearly a hundred of her friends at a hunt. Six hundred eggs had been hidden and were soon found. Miss Morris then served delicious jelly and cake to her guests.

At 12 o'clock the boys and girls of the Episcopal Sunday school hunted eggs on the lawn at Mr. G. C. Lamb's. The hunt was conducted by the children of the Methodist church were not forgotten by the rabbits.

The hunt given by the director of the Junior Auxiliary No. 3 at the Episcopal church concluded this fine sport and entertainment for the day.

Death of Mr. James A. Parham.

Mr. James A. Parham, a well known and highly respected citizen of Watkins, died Thursday night at 11:30, at the advanced age of 82 years. He had been seriously ill only a short time. Funeral services were conducted from his residence by Rev. J. H. Stradley Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the remains were laid to rest in the Herman burying ground.

Mr. Parham was a gentleman of high character, a life-long resident of the county, and a Confederate veteran. The beautiful funeral services and the long cortege that followed the body to its final resting place attested the great respect and high esteem in which he was held by his friends and the community.

Deceased is survived by eight sons and daughters. These are Messrs. Julian T. Parham, of Henderson; James H. Parham, of Watkins; William H. Parham, of Oxford; Messrs. C. W. Finch, of Henderson; Harry Wright, of Watkins; Dr. Weyhe, of Dahney; Robert Kittrell, of Kittrell; and Miss Hattie Parham, of Watkins.

An Egg Hunt.

In recognition of the best year's work the class has ever done, Mrs. D. D. McIntyre entertained the small members of her music class on Wednesday afternoon of last week at an egg hunt. From 3:30 until 4:30 o'clock games were enjoyed, and the eggs hunted and found. Then the children were asked into the dining room and seated at a table laid for twenty-five.

The centerpiece was a large yellow hen surrounded with chicks and from the looks of the things a chicken had strayed to each place. At any rate, a pretty fluffy biddie was at everybody's place, to be carried home with them. On each side of the centerpiece there were yellow conchids and ferns, and the artificial light shed over this scene made a pretty picture.

Cake and cream were then served and highly enjoyed.

The King's Daughters.

In the recent contest for a piano the "lover circle of the King's Daughters" won the fifth prize, amounting to $230.00, to which sum we now wish to add $120.00, which will enable us to purchase a new piano for our Hall.

The meeting, on April 11th, was well attended, and it is said to the credit of our city's prosperous condition, very few calls for help were reported. Each month a committee of two are appointed to look after the wants of the sick and the needy.

To Miss Muriel Craven.

Miss Nellie Rose entertained a few friends Monday night in honor of her guest, Miss Muriel Craven, of Durham. After many interesting games of various kinds had been enjoyed, a delightful sweet course was served. Those present were Misses Muriel Craven, Elizabeth Alford, Misses L. H. Hughes, Frances Cheatham, Alice Faulkner, and Dorothy Harris; Masters Roy Kimball, Cary Harris, Paul Harris, Edison Hicks and John Lee Wester.

ALL WRONG.

The Mistake is Made by Many Henderson Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause. It is wrong to imagine relief is cure. Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys. A Henderson resident tells you how. Eugene Thorn, Adams Ave., Henderson, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. I had been troubled more than any other remedy I ever tried. For years I had kidney trouble and I suffered almost constantly from backache and distressing pains in my loins. Some days I was hardly able to stand for more than twenty minutes at a time and I rarely got a full night's sleep. I was also troubled with uric acid and also were plagues. I finally recommended to me and getting a box at the Kern-McIntyre's Drug Store, I began their use. They removed my aches and pains and restored me to better health than I had enjoyed for years. Some years ago I publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and at this time am glad to speak in their praise again. The benefit I received has been lasting." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIntyre Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

At the Methodist Church Monday Evening.

The beautiful Easter Cantata, Giebel's "Light Out of Darkness," was sung at the Methodist church Monday evening by eighteen representative voices of the musical talent of the city.

It was a joyful outburst, and both the cantata and the rendition of it have received the most favorable comment. The success is due to Miss Lilla Page, whose full, resonant voice also lent aid to its success.

After the organ prelude by the gifted organist, Miss Norma Britt, the choir entered and took its place behind an embankment of palms, ferns and lilies, and took up the first notes of the opening chorus. In and between the solos were sung these full, sweet choruses by the entire choir:

"The Not Cast Down," by Mr. F. S. Wynne, and "The Song of the Magdalene," by Mrs. J. A. McClure, two of the most beautiful parts, were each of the exact register suitable to these voices, and was each sung with ease and splendid expression.

After the choir sang "After the Sorrow and Weeping," Partaking of the same qualities, these voices are unusually sweet. When they sang together, and the voices in Henderson are heard with more pleasure.

Mr. W. B. Waddill's full deep bass was just what the organ needed. "Behold A Wonderful Thing Has Come to Pass." Mr. Asa Parham was never heard to better advantage than in the solo, "O, Virgin, Redeemer," which was each of the exact register suitable to these voices, and was each sung with ease and splendid expression.

Good Friday Night at the Episcopal Church.

The most delightful and elaborate music ever heard at the Episcopal church was that of Good Friday night, when the choir, assisted by Mr. Richard Jones, sang "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

To music without words the choir entered and took its place in the chancel. Lord Kimball carried the cross and following him were Arthur, Runyon, James Tyler, W. W. Swain, Jr., John T. Thomas, David J. Cooper, John H. Hill, Zollicoffer, Fred Hayes and Sidney Lane, of the chorists, and Misses Olivia Lamb, Helen Lamb, Maria Tucker, Claudia Hunter, Genevieve Cooper and Amy Butler. Messdames A. S. Pendleton, N. P. Strane, T. H. Chavasse, D. Y. Cooper, Jr., Chas. Harris, soprano; Miss Bessie Hines and Messdames W. W. Fawcett, S. P. Cooper and F. C. Toepelman, alto; Messrs. S. P. Cooper, Richard Jones and F. E. Perkins, tenors; Messrs. George Gilliam, Erskine Clements, A. H. Cheek, basses; Rev. I. W. Hughes, organist; Mrs. Alex Cooper and Mr. R. G. S. Davis, violinists.

Beginning with a prophecy and ending with the description of nature at the Crucifixion, the seven last words of Christ, entwined with choruses, intervened.

Mrs. N. P. Strane's sweet high voice sang both the opening solo and one of the words.

The first word was sung by Rev. I. W. Hughes in a full baritone voice, and a striking chorus followed, representing the clamoring of the Jews for the crucifixion.

Mrs. A. S. Pendleton and Mrs. S. P. Cooper each had a solo in the second word. Mrs. Pendleton's voice was heard to advantage in her solo of great range, while Mrs. Cooper's solo, admirably suited to her voice, was one of her best efforts.

The fourth word, and the recitative at the end were sung by the sweet sympathetic tenor of Mr. Richard Jones, who was sharing honors with the splendid organ interpretation by Mrs. I. W. Hughes, were the most beautiful parts of the Cantata. Miss Olivia Lamb's solo "I Thirst," and another by Mr. S. P. Cooper's sweet tenor voice completed this sacred music.

A Beautiful and Fitting Memorial.

A plan laid seventeen years ago was consummated at Holy Innocents church Sunday night, April 16th. Presented by the Children of the Sunday School of Holy Innocents, a beautiful reproduction of Christ blessing little children, and bearing the inscription: "To the glory of God and in Tender Memory of John R. Eaton, Jr., 1844-1911. Presented by the Children of the Sunday School of Holy Innocents." It was then set apart to the glory of God, and a beautiful service was completed.

Mrs. Zollicoffer's splendid address, made on this occasion, will be published in next week's paper.

Avoid Frauds.

A paint fraud is paint that looks fair for a year or so, and then makes repainting necessary.

Don't waste your money and injure your property.

The L. & M. Paint has been in use for thirty-five years.

You make one half of it by adding 3 of a gallon of Linseed Oil to each gallon. It then costs about $1.60 per gallon, and is the best paint that can be made.

Our sales agent is Melville Dorsey.

GEO. A. ROSE CO.

THE L. & M. Paint has been in use for thirty-five years.

You make one half of it by adding 3 of a gallon of Linseed Oil to each gallon. It then costs about $1.60 per gallon, and is the best paint that can be made.

Our sales agent is Melville Dorsey.
